

the MeroVector - the Dome of Energy and Information

What it is, what it does and how it works:

The MeroVector System:

- Generates and sustains an active 24/7 dome of subtle energy and information for the purposes of environmental (internal/external) clearing & balancing.
- Incorporates and employs the principles of bio-resonance as well as a modified orgone effect.
- Operates at a super node frequency of 555µHz.
- Both systems can be built with outputs designed to highly focus and concentrate energy by interfacing with the following delivery systems:
 1. Scalarwave antenna,
 2. BioField Orgone mat (an energy concentration mat),
 3. Phoenix Laser System or
 4. Vogel laser System
- Meditate in the energetic dome - intensify focus to create alignment with your purpose to manifest necessary resources.

There are 2 MeroVector models:

The Mobile MV retails at $2,950 - The Mobile MV is comprised of the base unit and power supply and is intended to be used as an ambient field generating device for environmental conditioning or environmental feng shui. (the Mobile MV can be customized to spec for individuals and can also be retrofitted to be used in conjunction with the Orgone Mat, Scalar Antenna or the Laser Systems).

Whole Home system retails for $5,000 - Accessories included: the Orgone mat and the Tesseract Vortex antenna. (this unit can also be customized to spec for individuals and can also be retrofitted to be used in conjunction with the Laser Systems).

Accessories:

- Scalarwave Antennas - there are several varieties, please inquire
- BioField Wrap - $300
- Phoenix Laser System - $3500 (please inquire for details)
- Vogel Laser Cannon Upgrade - $4000
- Vogel Dual Cannon - (please inquire)

The BioField Wrap - Orgone Accumulator

The wrap is flexible and can be used under a mattress or pillow or it can be wrapped around a body part. It functions similar in theory to that of an orgone accumulator that is also an energy concentrator. Orgone is the energy that is the creative force in nature. This force is also commonly referred to as universal energy or Life Force.

Orgone is present everywhere. Orgone energy fills all space. It is present in varying degrees of concentrations but nevertheless is found everywhere.

Using the MV with the pad will immediately begin attracting and concentrating orgone from an endless supply of life force energy and transfer that energy to benefit anyone who is using the MV with the biofield pad connected.

The Base Unit Module

The MeroVector module when turned on will act on a large scale field effect for broadcasting information about environmental clearing and balancing. When one of the MeroVector output tools are connected, the MV will generate a highly concentrated stream of information which alternates in polarity at 555uHz to create the greatest possible levels of equilibrium for the target subject. This field has a very powerful balancing effect. The observable and experiential shifts include transformations at the physical, emotional, psychological, spirit and soul levels. The ultimate objective in using these powerful tools is to facilitate an increase in frequency and clarity while expanding conscious awareness.

By expanding conscious awareness to include and maintain a focused state of high vibration and balance, one can certainly alter the course of an otherwise life threatening situation or condition. Doing so allows the user to manifest an outcome of choice that may be considered by some to appear miraculous.

The balancing effect produced by the MeroVector system is achieved by exposure to the alternating fields of information that are generated by the device. The MeroVector also utilizes a bioresonant broadcast field effect to create a "tune up" effect. A simple resonant effect is the ability of like to affect like. A bioresonant effect is the ability of like to affect like that may have become unlike.

Example of a simple resonant effect - If you had 2 tuning forks of the same pitch and you tapped one of them, it would begin to sing or resonate at a specific frequency. Now if you were to hold that fork next to the other one it too will begin to resonate or sing along with the first one, that is a resonant effect. Bio-resonance is a resonant effect specific to a "biological" organism which is the same general idea but a bit more complex in the dynamics.

A healthy environment, plant, animal or person is that way because there exists a balanced resonance with the organism's Divine matrix. Dis-ease for example is a state that manifests when an organism's cells or systems become out of tune with that matrix. Being in a field of balancing information and the resonance of homeostasis allows all the parts that are out of tune to once again begin resonating with the intended matrix of health.

The MeroVector generates informational fields of negative and positive polarities. The theory behind using the Biofield wrap in a concentrated field of alternating DC polarity is that the positive polarity exerts pressure at the cellular level and in the negative polarity the pressure is released. This unique action would theoretically create a vacuum effect in the transition phase between the 2 polarities. The pumping emulates increased cellular permeability not only for the uptake of bio-available nutrients but also for the excretion of built up cellular waste. The physiological results are actually quite remarkable.

Anything or anyone in the energetic dome of the MeroVector will begin to experience an enhancement and realignment of their bioenergetic fields (energy fields and centers). Those who are highly sensitive can feel a physical buzz of the field effect from as far as 50 feet away.

Meditating within the biofield with focused intent produces profound manifestations. Lucid dreaming and resolution of long term conflicts are common while sleeping in the field. Use of the LifeBEAT sprays in conjunction with MeroVector technology would be the ultimate combination for someone who was looking to operate "In the Zone" at optimized levels of excellence and performance.

Disclaimer - The products herein described are NOT medical products or devices. These products are designed for experimental use only and are not intended for use in the diagnosis, prevention, treatment, cure or mitigation of any disease condition in either humans, animals or plants. If you have a health related condition or are concern about any physical, emotional or psychological conditions, real or imaginary, always consult an appropriate licensed health care professional.